The end approaches! 10 tips on surviving the Apocalypse!

Heralding Lights!

Lights heralding the beginning of a new Mage War have appeared throughout the city.

Use the lights to find the locations of the other Mages.

Find those who have seen the Light and have them tell you where they saw it.

Seek out the other Mages and kill them all, by any means! They must not be allowed the Wish!

However, do not forget to also spread my Gifts to the people.

My Gifts will help them see true enlightenment and allow you to make your Judgements more easily.

Soon this will be Maineral...

What can you do?

Soon corruption and decay will spread throughout the world like it has many others.

Find out more on how you can survive in such an environment on pages 25-27, or simply perish along with the others. It matters little to me either way, once your task is completed.

Heralds of war disrupt balance

Through my influence, I have gathered willing souls who wish to spread my word and destroy the systems in place.

These heralds will help you purify the world in my name! But do not seek them out, lest they purify you also!

Local animals seek freedom!

At the local zoo in Eagle Gardens there are many captive beasts that seek freedom and to rise up against their oppressors. They could be a valuable tool...

★ Mysterious Beasts ★

Strange, undead creatures have appeared around the city. Beware them, and should you encounter them, seek help in the Church for they may be contaminated.

Weather report: Stormy

Tonight I bring a great storm to the city. Use it to your advantage and kill all the Mages!

Tomorrow I shall bring clouds to the city and banish the sun's rays in an effort to quell their morale.

Unimportant dead guy is dead

An unimportant person was found dead with his son.

Good riddance.

He might've been a Mage?
