Unidentified Object crashed! "This thing is completely alien"

Church district riots

Last morning riots seem to have reached a fever pitch within the Church sub-district of Rue.Heights.

It is currently unknown what has caused these riots, but it is speculated that the divide between the rich upper class and poor lower class is the root cause.

"I dunno if you've noticed, but that entire place has gone to shit lately! People living there have seemed erratic and snappy, I was even attacked by a bird when walking my dog there a couple of days ago!" A local tells us.

We will keep you posted on the situation, but it is not recommended that you go there currently as it is considered a high-risk zone.

Last night, at Craig Hill, a massive flying object crashed. Experts still unsure what it is.

*Image does not depict the object, we were unable to get close enough to get an image.*

UFO CRASH SITE

Yesterday at 21:40, locals at Craig Hill were violently awoken by the sound of a drawn out whale-like sound.

Shortly thereafter, there was a sound of a crash. "It sounded like someone blew up a bomb in my backyard!" A local says.

Read more about this object on pages 16-17.

Stocks plummet due to war

The stock market took a large hit yesterday as news of the war broke out.

"We believe this is because many fear this war will eventually take a more global aspect than have ever been done before, as two supernations back both sides.", an expert in the field tells us. Read more about this on pages 27-28.

★ Rat infestation ★

Lately there has been a rapid increase of rat sightings around town.

Locals are worried about what health concerns this might pose.

Officials say that proper actions will be taken once other concerns have been dealt with.

Weather report: Sunny

Today's weather is looking to be quite sunny, with only an occasional cloud dotting the sky.

Towards the evening the weather should stay its course and we will be having a very pleasant and warm evening.

Tomorrow's weather will be sunny with a pleasant breeze!

Local's rise to fame!

A local was caught on camera and has since risen to fame on the web! Her name is Blake and she's seemingly a bit of a cosplay enthusiast!

She loves dressing up her pets in spooky attire, making them look "Undead" and she seems to currently reside in the Warehouse district of Mastic Walk according to our investigator! Read more on page 21.
