

Maineral News

NEWS WORLD-WIDE SINCE 1875YK

Sunday, June 7th. 2001YK

58P

★ BREAKING NEWS ★ BREAKING NEWS ★ BREAKING NEWS ★ NEWS

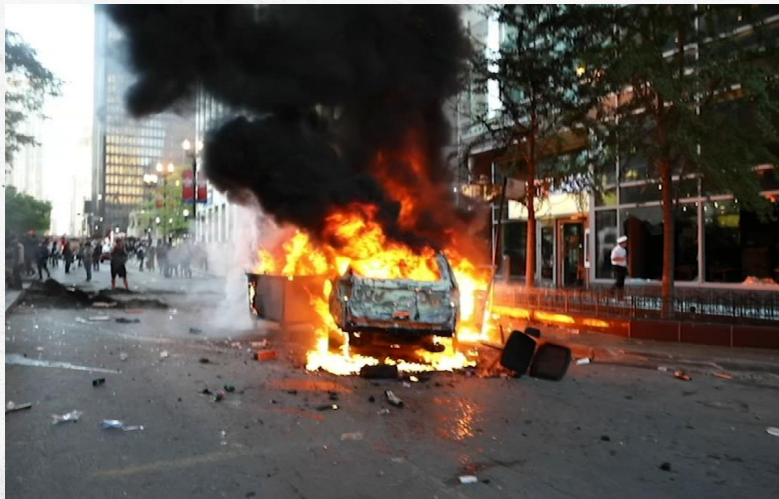

Church riots still active “Even law enforcement are joining in”

How to avoid disease

The disease that has quickly been spreading throughout Maineral seem to have reached all of the city-districts.

The Hospital has stopped admission, and with the riots reaching the Hospital itself we have received very few reports since.

“It is hard to say where the death tolls lie currently. Even under controlled circumstances getting such a figure would be hard, but these riots are making this work living hell for the brave men and women working the hospital, risking their lives potentially catching this deadly disease themselves.”, tells a Janitor working at the Hospital.

“Church riots” with no end in sight.

Riots affect new districts

The event known as the “Church Riots” is still ongoing with no signs of slowing down. Many districts appear to be affected.

It is unclear why these riots are affecting the city on such a large scale and from all walks of life.

Read more on pages 24-27.

Stocks keep plummeting

The stock market hit an all time low today with many wondering what will happen next.

Experts believe that the world might be facing an economic challenge the likes of which this world has never seen before.

Read more on pages 16-17.

sPrayR™ self-defense tool

[advertisement]

Do you sometimes fear for your own well-being? Have you ever had an uncomfortable encounter with someone that could have turned ugly?

Did you ever have an awkward conversation with someone and wished you could just end it right then and there?

sPrayR is the tool for you! It can solve all of the above situations in an extremely efficient manner. Get one today!

★ Strange creatures ★

Reports of strange-looking creatures have appeared all throughout Maineral.

These creatures are not indigenous to Maineral, and some locals believe they aren't even indigenous to our world, though most of the scientific community disagree with this assessment.

Mysterious Magical Message!

Are you guys mental? I give you a magical artifact capable of using whichever school of magic you so choose without the need for mana, and that's on top of the priceless skill crystals and other bollocks, and none of you donkeys think it's worth fighting for it? One of you just waltzes in, grabs it and is on their merry way like they're fucking grocery shopping!? Absolute disgrace.

At this point I doubt it's even worth it to continue this: None of you seem to realize the situation you're currently in and are content with just hugging it out. If that's the case I suggest you formally forfeit the war and save yourself the trouble. But I'll be a good sport and send another drop tonight at the Hudson Green housing sub-district. Maybe tonight you'll take this thing fucking seriously.

Strange vessel crumbles

The strange vessel that was found in Craig Hill has crumbled to dust according to officials who were in the process of discovering what it was.

“While we cannot confirm that it was of extraterrestrial nature, a lot of our evidence points to just that.”, one official told us in an interview.

