Disease update

The disease that is currently plaguing Maineral is still showing no signs of slowing down.

“Cases of the disease have come in from every sub-district of Maineral, so we cannot stress enough how important it is to stay at home and stay safe.”, says an official.

“The disease has so far had a mortality rate of 90% and we are far from finding a cure. Your best bet is to make sure you don’t catch the disease.” says a former worker at the Hospital of Maineral.

Mysterious Magical Message!

I don't even know what to do about you all. Here I am, trying to bring this war to an end without the need for further human casualties, and you lot are just goofing around like you just don't care. This time, you don't even bother picking up the priceless fucking crystals, you just have a bird fucking fly by and grab the first thing it sees and leave the rest like it's at a fucking drive-thru or something?

WHAT. THE. FUCK. Is wrong with you people? I'm sure you will all be happy to know that the treasure this time was an artifact that can help one of you locate the rest of you donkeys. That's right, one of you now has the means to weed the rest of you out. Hope that will help you all sleep at night.

I don't even know why I'm doing this, but I'm gonna be a good sport and send yet another priceless treasure tonight, this time to the Warehouse sub-district of Cassava Point. I'm sure one of you might feel the need to maybe send a familiar to investigate it. Wouldn't wanna sprain an ankle... Fucking amateurs

The Envoy of the Gods was apparently found dead tonight within the Church sub-district of Rue Heights.

We were unable to interview anyone in the area due to the ongoing riots, but it appears he was killed in an explosion. The circumstances are otherwise unclear.
